

Rights in rem and personal rights on the public domain

New rules regarding the public domain

Past case law

New property law

- All rights in rem, provided they are compatible with the public destination.
- All personal rights such as lease agreements.
- Long term-lease and building rights on the public domain can even be perpetual.

* Provided they are compatible with the public destination and use and are precarious in view of the needs of the public interest

TIP

| Evaluate the conclusion of another type of contract than a domain concession

These provisions of the new Property Law Code have entered into force on 1 September 2021.
